HOLOCAUST MEMORIAL EXCURSION

Year 10 History students visited the Sydney Jewish Museum's temporary home at the Sydney Central Synagogue, where they took part in the Understanding the Holocaust education program. Students deepened their knowledge of the Holocaust through the extraordinary survival story of Jack Feiler, who was born in secret in a small Polish village in 1944.

Jack shared how his parents, Bolek and Lola, made impossible choices to protect him, and how a local Polish couple ultimately saved his life by raising him as their own. Hearing Jack speak in person was a profound privilege, giving students a powerful reminder of the importance of survivor testimony in preserving Holocaust memory.

The group also toured the Synagogue, enriching their understanding of Jewish culture, faith, and community life.
