TUTOR SPOTLIGHT

About our Tutor : Eham Ibrahim BA (MUS), MA MUS (PERF), MA (PERF)(SYD)

Ehab Ibrahim has been tutoring at Thomas Hassall Anglican College for 9 years.

Since 1995, Ehab has been engaged as a Principal Cellist and as a Soloist with many orchestras. He has also given many solo and chamber music concerts in the US, Europe and Australia with many internationally acclaimed musicians and conductors.

Ehab turned his focus to teaching in 2000. He was a tutor at the Sydney Conservatorium of Music for six years, teaching both individuals and ensembles, and has taught at a number of educational bodies, including Newington College. In 2003, he was appointed as the first Head of Strings at Macarthur Anglican School where he established its strings department, including its chamber and symphony orchestras (which have won multiple Eisteddfod competitions and have later toured internationally). In 2005, Ehab founded Sydney Strings Academy - a music school based in Burwood that provides private and group tuitions as well as conducting chamber ensembles in private schools (including Picton Strings chamber orchestra) in addition to tuitions provided in its own studios.

Since commencing at Thomas Hassall Anglican College, Ehab has over 40 students at the College. He has started the Junior String Orchestra, Senior String Ensemble, Year 1 and 2 String Program and will also be assisting with the new Year 7 violin program this year.

Ehab has extensive experience in preparing students for AMEB exams and teaches students at the college from Kindergarten to Year 12. Please see our music administration assistant Mrs Hobbins or email musicadmin@thac.nsw.edu.au for an information note on tuition or to join a strings group.
