GIFTEDNESS WORKSHOPS ONLINE

UNSW has recently made their workshops for parents of gifted children available online.

These workshops are designed for parents to better understand giftedness, how giftedness can be identified, what unique needs gifted children may have, what it looks when gifted children underachieve, schooling for gifted children, how to advocate for gifted children, gifted children with a disability, and career options for gifted children.

Information about the workshops is available here: Click here for UNSW Parent Workshops

Parents can choose which workshops they would like to register for.
