

FROM THE ASSISTANT CHAPLAIN

I am not handy at all.

If something in the house is broken I know the smartest thing to do is call the right person for the job. This lesson wasn't an easy lesson to learn. A few years ago, I noticed that my pool was leaking. The grass was soggy around the pool and the water level was rapidly decreasing. So being a typical 30-year-old man, I tried to find the leak myself; that was my first mistake. After hours of digging and cutting concrete in search of a leak, I discovered that I have made the situation much worse. I knew it was time to call the right person for the job.

I'm sure many of us can relate to this story. We try to fix things ourselves without getting the proper help we need. It is the same for our everyday life, isn't it? We so often forget that God is in control of all things. Sometimes when life gets hard, we try to go about fixing it all on our own. I want to encourage you to call the right man for the job.

In Romans 8:28 it says: 'And we know that in all things God works for the good of those who love him, who have been called according to his purpose.'

I want to encourage you all to ask God for help when life is hard. He is in control of all things and loves you more than you can imagine. Pray to God and God will listen. God is the right person for the job. He will help you and comfort you in tough times.

Mr Matthew Richards
Assistant Chaplain